IS IT SMALLPOX.

The County Physician is Unable to Say Authoritatively That It Is.
The county physician, Dr. J. H. Owings, came over from Deer Lodge yesterday, to look after the alleged case of smallpox that is supposed to exist out at the old pest house. The doctor was very reticent in expressing his opinion in the matter, but said the local board had done perfectly right in isolating the case. For if in a few days it should turn out not to be a case of smallpox at all, no harm would have been done in isolating the case, and thus preventing any possibility of the disease spreading, should it prove to be a case of the dreaded complaint.
Dr. Owings would not say it was a case of smallpox, though he did state that the case was a most suspicious one, developing indications of true smallpox. He states that no harm would be done by citizens getting vaccinated to be prepared against the disease either in Anaconda, or in the possibility of catching it at the world's fair.
The patient, Collerton, certainly has a rash, though it is yet too early to exactly tell what his complaint is, and it may, in all probability prove to be simply a case of common rash.

THEY REMEMBER WATSON.

His Room Mate Tells What He Knows About Him.
Mrs. Watson, who claims to be the mother of James Watson, who died two years ago at the hospital in this city, is causing considerable interest at Carroll, owing to the fact that the man was boarding there, and working in the smelter immediately before his death.
The last room mate he had at Carroll was John Hakett, who was seen last evening at the Walker house in Carroll. Mr. Hakett stated that Watson roomed with him only a few weeks before he was taken down with pneumonia and went to the Anaconda hospital. Mr. Hakett states that Watson was a man between 40 and 45 years of age, and had the appearance of being consumptive, or a sufferer from some lung trouble. He was never known to mention anything about his relatives, and his room mate never heard him say anything about his mother, as he was always a reserved man.
Mr. Ehret, the well known undertaker, was seen last night, and said that he remembered Watson dying, and judged him to be a man of about 40 years of age. Upon turning to his record of deaths Mr. Ehret found that James Watson died at the hospital January 8, 1891, and was buried the next day at the expense of the sisters, who manage the hospital.
Among the people who knew Watson the general opinion appears to be that he was a man over 40 years of age, but nothing is known concerning his relatives, and if he had a mother living he never spoke of her.

READY FOR THE FRAY.

Johnson Completed His Training Yesterday for the Fight.
Charles Johnson finished his training yesterday for the great fight between Neodham and himself that is to take place to-night.
It is understood that the Montana Union will run a special train for the event, leaving Anaconda at 7 o'clock and returning after the fight is over. Johnson is in the pink of condition, and can be depended upon not to disappoint his friends, though they express an anxiety to have the long end of the fight, as far as odds are concerned. It will not be safe for the outside sportsmen to shake money under the noses of Johnson's friends, and there will be a full representation of them on hand in Butte to-night.
It is hoped, if Johnson wins the fight, that he will be persuaded to give an exhibition at the park a few days after the event.

QUITE A SURPRISE.

Marriage of Two Well Known Anacondans.
H. H. Logan has been wearing an unusually preoccupied look for several days, and it has occasioned his acquaintances considerable alarm. At times he would smile, when he thought nobody was looking. His sanity was not doubted, but no one could account for his new peculiarity.
The whole matter was cleared up yesterday, however, when Mr. Logan sent for Rev. Clyde and whispered confidentially to him. The result was that Mr. Clyde sent the following notice to the STANDARD office last night:
MARRIED. On the 23rd inst., by Rev. Wm. Clyde, H. H. Logan to Maggie D. Hoffediz, both of Anaconda.
The ceremony was performed at the bride's residence, and was witnessed only by a few friends. The groom is said to have presented a charming appearance.

One of the numerous family of John Doe was charged, in Judge Rockwell's court yesterday, with being drunk. The defendant acknowledged the corn and was fined in the sum of $5 and costs, which was paid, so the defendant was turned loose.

THE DAUGHTERS DID IT.

The Flag That Will Float From the Montana Building.
The Anaconda Daughters of America have completed the self-imposed duty of making the flag for the Montana state building at Chicago.
Yesterday the flag was displayed in one of the windows of the Smith Drug company's store, and in a few days it will be forwarded to Chicago. It is a flag that the citizens of Anaconda and the state of Montana may well feel proud of, as it is a great deal of credit for taking the matter in hand, and they have done themselves proud by the flag that will be exhibited to the whole world.
Uncle Hiram.
When Aaron H. Woodhull wrote his sensational comedy drama, "Uncle Hiram," and put in a saw mill working in full view of the audience, and a railroad train crossing the stage in ten seconds, he laid the foundation of his fortune. His play is packing the theaters everywhere, and when Uncle Hiram is thrown upon the log track and is about to be cut to pieces by a buzz saw, the audience is spellbound and jump to their feet and cheer as he is rescued by the dashing Troja Griswold as Helia.
The railroad scene also comes in for great applause along with a steam boiler explosion and view of the New York harbor with the Brooklyn bridge and Bartoldi statue. The company carries every inch of scenery used and will positively produce it as advertised. This play will be produced at the opera house to-night.
